

University at Albany, State University of New York

Scholars Archive

---

Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies Faculty
Scholarship

Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies

---

2019

A Renewed Call for Feminist Resistance to Population Control

Anne Hendrixson

Ellen Foley

Rajani Bhatia

Daniel Bendix

Susanne Schultz

See next page for additional authors

The University at Albany community has made this article openly available.

Please share how this access benefits you.

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarsarchive.library.albany.edu/cas\_womensstudies\_scholar

Part of the Women's Studies Commons

---

License

---

Authors

Anne Hendrixson, Ellen Foley, Rajani Bhatia, Daniel Bendix, Susanne Schultz, Kalpana Wilson, and Wangui Kimari

A RENEWED CALL FOR FEMINIST RESISTANCE TO POPULATION CONTROL

We are feminist advocates for reproductive, environmental and climate justice who are deeply concerned about rising sea levels and rising inequalities.

We are troubled that population numbers, composition and movements are often seen as causing or worsening climate change, environmental degradation, poverty, war and conflict. For instance, the United Nation's 2019 World Population Prospects says that rapid population growth will stand in the way of accomplishing the Sustainable Development Goals related to poverty, equality and hunger.

Today's population politics echo past predictions about the dangers of "overpopulation." However, the focus is not solely on global numbers, as in the era of the "population bomb," but on the supposed too many young people, mainly in parts of Africa and South Asia. In international security analyses, young men are often characterized as part of a dangerous "youth bulge." Economic analyses position young women as lucrative capital who can help nations reap demographic dividends with their perceived labor. Reproductive choices are thought to determine global futures and curbing young women's fertility is a priority for many policy-makers and organizations. At the same time, as the world adjusts to the trend of "aging" national populations and lower fertility rates, policies that promote child-bearing and pressures to "perfect" children are on the rise. In this context, selective reproductive practices and technologies contribute to damaging valuations of who should exist.

Donor-driven development, as well as strands of environmental activism, have ushered in urgent calls for population reduction to lessen the future impacts of climate change. This occurs in the name of empowering women, uplifting the poor, and protecting the environment. In many cases, the language of social justice or human rights is used to obscure the narrow focus on population reduction. These calls may counter Far Right populisms that deny climate change, but they continue to stigmatize the poor while states retract from the provision of public services, and can also buttress right-wing xenophobia.

When population is cast as the problem, restrictions like fertility control, heightened borders, dispossession, detention and imprisonment are posed as the solutions. Many right-wing advocates decry population pressures as the reason for cross-border migration and call for racist anti-immigration policies. These policies target marginalized groups such as immigrants, refugees and racial, ethnic or religious minorities through mass deportation, detention, incarceration or fertility control.

We are concerned that the current population establishment, which includes international organizations, donor governments, philanthropists such as the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and large pharmaceutical corporations, is over-reliant on long-acting reversible contraception (LARC). Today's LARC methods include Jadelle (Norplant II), Nexplanon (Implanon) and the Sayana Press (Depo-Provera), which have significant adverse effects and high rates of discontinuation. The policies which promote them often emphasize fertility control over other sexual and reproductive health considerations, like HIV transmission, acquisition, and treatment. These programs reintroduce targets like FP2020's '120 by 20' and volume guarantees on contraceptive sales. In some cases punitive measures or conditional access to welfare provision violate rights and bodily integrity. Further, in the wake of ethical breaches in the ECHO trial, a human clinical trial to determine if Depo-Provera increases HIV transmission, we are concerned with unanswered questions and further, that the priorities of contraceptive testing and dissemination are set by Big Pharma and philanthrocapitalists who rely on the exploitation of black and brown people whose bodies are considered “testable.”

We take seriously the devastating and uneven impacts of climate change, the loss of biodiversity and the ongoing drive for economic growth, expanded profits, extractivism and privatization of land, forests and water, at the expense of the environment and health. However, we challenge climate change platforms that cast it as a population or international security problem. Military build-up and increased border security create environmental hazards—the US military is one of the greatest carbon emitters. The use of military tactics in environmental conservation can lead to unacceptable violence in controlling and patrolling land, and to sterilization abuses. In a similar vein, the initiatives currently in the name of “Climate-Smart Agriculture” can intensify environmental problems, spread toxins, and promote exclusive land use.

TIME FOR A NEW APPROACH

This year marks the 25th anniversary of the 1994 International Conference on Population and Development in Cairo, Egypt. At that conference feminist advocacy led to the foregrounding of sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) over population control. ICPD25 will be held November 2019 in Nairobi, Kenya to “urgently finish the unfinished business of the landmark ICPD Programme of Action and to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals \(SDGs\) by 2030.” “Harnessing the demographic dividend” is one of the conference goals, which entails population reduction to ensure a working age population with fewer dependent children as a strategy to promote economic prosperity.

We challenge this formula for health and wealth, even though we too support sexual and reproductive health, rights, and justice, including safe and accessible abortion. These fundamental health services should promote bodily autonomy rather than serving economic or environmental agendas. The idea that population reduction is the first-step to progress is a flawed assumption that can dangerously narrow SRHR, particularly when promoted as an “urgent” priority.

We call for a social justice approach to supporting people and the planet and write in the spirit of previous feminist resistance that called for a new approach to women, population and the environment. We build from the foundational work of the Black scholars and activists who created the concept of reproductive justice to highlight the racial, economic and social inequalities in reproductive politics and to promote bodily autonomy, the right to have children, the right not to have children, and the right to parent children in healthy environments. We stand with the People’s Health Movement and their advocacy for health and social justice.

We call for integrated responses to climate change, environmental racism and toxicity that promote health, including sexual and reproductive health, through social, reproductive and climate justice frameworks. As part of this web of actions, we demand that governments, international agencies and other social institutions:

1. Hold those most responsible for climate change accountable and systematically address environmental racism as temperatures and waters rise.
2. Question the expansive and highly unequal growth logic of capitalist relations of production and consumption.
3. Avoid or reject “solutions” to climate change that are based on individual, consumer decision-making, such as “eating green” (rather than on green production and distribution) or not having babies. These solutions can be superficial, let the biggest polluters off the hook, and further exacerbate inequalities.

As do “solutions” stemming from privatization of land and water which deepen inequalities by benefiting corporations instead of small-scale farmers.

4. Reject policies that rely on fertility control and engineering population size to serve development agendas or to counter climate change.
5. Fight nationalism, racism and the heightening of borders. Recognize the right of peoples to move freely and safely.
6. Reject militarized conservationism, the incorporation of family planning into conservation initiatives and other such policies which seek to shift responsibility for loss of biodiversity and destruction of wildlife from global corporate actors to local communities.
7. Protect the full informed consent and rights of trial participants and reject exploitation in scientific experimentation.
8. Promote reproductive justice and a comprehensive vision for sexual and reproductive health within a framework of universal access to holistic health care services that includes a robust conversation about conceptive and contraceptive methods, access and safety; parental, child and elder health care; education on sexuality, gender and healthy relationships; abortion services; HIV testing, prevention and treatment; and actively uproots racist, ableist and anti-LGBTQI biases in healthcare.

This statement was produced by Anne Hendrixson of PopDev, the Population & Development Program at Hampshire College, in collaboration with Ellen E. Foley, Rajani Bhatia, Daniel Bendix, Susanne Schultz, Kalpana Wilson, and Wangui Kimari. We thank Sarojini Nadimpally, Betsy Hartmann, Marlene Fried, Christa Wichterich and Daniela Gottschlich for their comments.

We invite you to add your name, affiliation, and location directly to the bottom of this list to show your support for a new approach. All affiliations for individuals are recorded for identification only. Organizational sign ons are welcome. You may also sign-on by email: popdev@hampshire.edu. Comments are also welcome.

INDIVIDUALS

1. Anne Hendrixson, Population & Development Program, Hampshire College, United States
2. Ellen E. Foley, International Development, Community, and Environment, Clark University, United States
3. Rajani Bhatia, Women’s, Gender & Sexuality Studies, SUNY at Albany, United States
4. Daniel Bendix, International Social Sciences, Friedensau Adventist University, Germany
5. Kalpana Wilson, Department of Geography, Birkbeck, University of London, UK
6. Susanne Schultz, Institute for Sociology, Goethe University Frankfurt/M, Germany
7. Wangui Kimari, African Centre for Cities, University of Cape Town
8. Diana Ojeda, Instituto Pensar, Pontificia Universidad Javeriana, Bogota, Colombia
9. Olaf Berg, Leibniz-Center for Contemporary History Potsdam, Germany
10. Betsy Hartmann, Professor Emerita of Development Studies, Hampshire College, United States
11. Professor Reinhart Kössler, Berlin, Germany
12. Jade S. Sasser, Gender and Sexuality Studies, University of California, Riverside, United States
13. Dr. Mohan Rao, former professor, Centre of Social Medicine and Community Health, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, currently independent researcher in Bangalore
14. Michael Korbmacher, Member of the editorial staff of PERIPHERIE, Germany
15. Jasmine Gideon, Birkbeck, University of London, UK
16. Prof. Dr. Aram Ziai, University of Kassel, Kassel, Germany
17. Prof. Dr. Helene Decke-Cornill, Universität Hamburg, Fakultät für Erziehungswissenschaft, Germany
18. Marion Stevens, Sexual and Reproductive Justice Coalition, South Africa

19. Carrie Wendel-Hummell, Center for Research on Aging and Disability Options, University of Kansas, U.S.
20. Mike Laufenberg, Institute of Sociology, Friedrich Schiller University of Jena, Germany
21. Theresa Morris, Sociology and Women's and Gender Studies, Texas A&M University
22. Elizabeth Wirtz, Department of Anthropology, Purdue University, U.S.
23. Sharon Yam, Writing, Rhetoric, and Digital Studies, University of Kentucky, United States
24. JoAnna Woolridge Wall, Department of Women's and Gender Studies, University of Oklahoma
25. Siri Suh, Department of Sociology, Brandeis University, United States
26. Camisha Russell, Department of Philosophy, University of Oregon, United States
27. Patrick R. Grzanka, Psychology and Women, Gender, & Sexuality Interdisciplinary Program, The University of Tennessee, United States
28. Alison Gemmill, Assistant Professor, Department of Population, Family and Reproductive Health, Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, United States
29. Karen Benjamin Guzzo, Professor, Department of Sociology, Bowling Green State University.
30. Purvaja S Kavattur, Department of Epidemiology, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health, United States
31. Prof. Dr. Encarnación Gutiérrez Rodríguez, Chair General Sociology, Justus-Liebig-Universität Giessen, Germany
32. Frank Holmquist, Professor of Politics Emeritus, Hampshire College, United States
33. Sarah Cowan, Assistant Professor, Sociology, New York University, United States
34. Prof. Dr. Ingrid Lohmann, Universität Hamburg, Germany
35. Brenna McCaffrey, Department of Anthropology, CUNY Graduate Center, New York, United States
36. Ian Angus, Editor, Climate & Capitalism
37. Yuki Davis, Department of Global Health and Population, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health, United States
38. Loretta J. Ross, Visiting Associate Professor, Smith College, United States
39. Anna Carella, Co-Executive Director, Healthy and Free Tennessee, United States
40. Monica J. Casper, Professor of Gender and Women's Studies and Public Health, University of Arizona
41. Savina Balasubramanian, Assistant Professor, Sociology, Loyola University Chicago
42. Louise Antony, Professor of Philosophy, University of Massachusetts
43. Carrie N. Baker, Professor and Chair, Program for the Study of Women and Gender, Smith College
44. Melina Taylor, Research Associate, American Board of Family Medicine, United States
45. Nivedita Saxena, Department of Global Health and Population, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health, United States
46. Lynda Pickbourn, Assistant Professor of Economics, Hampshire College
47. Diana Marre, Associate Professor of Social Anthropology, Autonomous University of Barcelona
48. Gwendolyn Albert, independent human rights activist, Czech Republic
49. Amrita Pande, Associate Professor of Sociology, University of Cape Town, South Africa
50. Daniela Gottschlich, Institute for Diversity, Nature, Gender and Sustainability, Lüneburg, Germany
51. Tanweer Ali, Lecturer, Empire State College, SUNY, United States
52. Mounia El Kotni, Cultural Anthropologist, EHESS Paris, France
53. Nanna Heidenreich, Media & Cultural Studies Scholar, Prof. for Digital Narratives, ifs internationale filmschule köln, Germany
54. Laura Sochas, Doctoral researcher in demography, London School of Economics, UK
55. Kate Law, Nottingham Research Fellow, University of Nottingham, UK
56. Cordelia Freeman, Assistant Professor, University of Nottingham, UK
57. Manisha Gupte, PhD. Co-Convenor, Mahila Sarvangeen Utkarsh Mandal (MASUM), Pune, India
58. Matt Huber, Associate Professor, Department of Geography, Syracuse University, United States
59. Dr. Sabine Könninger, Political Scientist, Berlin, Germany

60. Carolyn McLeod, Department of Philosophy, University of Western Ontario, Canada
61. Laura-Anne Minkoff-Zern, Assistant Professor, Food Studies, Syracuse University, United States
62. Christa Wichterich, scholar activist, Germany
63. Susanne Lettow, Margherita-von-Brentano Centre for Gender Studies, Free University Berlin, Germany
64. Paige Patchin, research development, University of Nottingham
65. Patricia Hynes, Montague Ma, United States
66. Susan Pashkoff, Global Institute for Sustainable Prosperity, London, UK
67. Christy Tidwell, Associate Professor of English & Humanities, South Dakota School of Mines & Technology
68. Jallicia Jolly, Doctoral Fellow, American Studies & Black Studies, Amherst College
69. Anthea Kyere, feminist activist and student of Social Sciences and Socio-cultural Studies, Berlin, Germany
70. Jill Williams, University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ, USA
71. Cara Page, Changing Frequencies, Brooklyn, NY US
72. Lucia Guerra-Reyes, Indiana University, IN, USA
73. Roger D. Harris, Task Force on the Americas, Corte Madera, CA, USA
74. Brian Hennigan, PhD Candidate, Syracuse University, Syracuse, NY USA
75. Cora Fernandez Anderson, Assistant Professor of Politics, Mount Holyoke College
76. Ana De Luca, Red Género Sociedad y Medio Ambiente, México
77. Arnisson Andre Ortega, Assistant Professor, Department of Geography, Syracuse University, USA
78. Jeffrey Edmeades, Demografix Consulting
79. Kavita Krishnan, Secretary, All India Progressive Women's Association (AIPWA)
80. John Stepling, Inderøy Norway
81. Larry Lohmann, The Corner House, UK
82. Nick Hildyard, The Corner House, UK
83. Sarah Sexton, The Corner House, UK
84. Claudia Chauhan, MD, PhD, School of Health Policy and Management, York University Toronto, Canada
85. Jamie C. Gagliano, MA Student, Syracuse University Department of Geography, New York, USA
86. Sarojini N, Public Health Researcher, People's Health Movement, India
87. Marlene Gerber Fried, Professor and Faculty Director, Civil Liberties and Public Policy Program (CLPP) at Hampshire College
88. Dr. Margaret Flowers and Kevin Zeese, JD, co-directors of Popular Resistance, United States
89. Joni Seager, Professor, Bentley University, USA
90. Dominic Wilkins, PhD Student, Syracuse University
91. Kristin Sziarto, Associate Professor of Geography, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, USA
92. Jennifer A. Hamilton, Visiting Professor of Sexuality, Women's & Gender Studies, Amherst College; Director, Five College Women's Studies Research Center
93. April Hovav, Postdoctoral Scholar, Institute for Practical Ethics, University of California, San Diego
94. Lebogang Ramafoko, CEO Soul City Institute
95. Wale Adeleye ED Balanced Stewardship Development Association(BALSDA)
96. Nicole Bourbonnais, Assistant Professor of International History, Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva, Switzerland
97. Alberto Alonso-Fradejas, postdoctoral researcher, International Institute of Social Studies (ISS), The Netherlands
98. Marion Werner, Associate Professor, Department of Geography, University at Buffalo, the State University of New York, USA
99. Karyn Pomerantz, multiracialunity.org blog co-editor

100. Professor Cathi Albertyn, School of Law, University of the Witwatersrand Johannesburg, South Africa
101. Josephine Mugishagwe, The Family Planning Association of Tanzania (UMATI), Dar es Salaam, Tanzania
102. Maya Manzi, Universidade Católica do Salvador (UCSAL), Brazil
103. Ana Maria R. Nemenzo, National Coordinator, WomanHealth Philippines, Philippines
104. Manuela Ruiz-Reyes, PhD Candidate, Syracuse University, Syracuse-USA
105. Joseph Senyo Kwashie -Executive Director, Community and Family Aid Foundation-Ghana
106. Roberta Hawkins, Associate Professor, University of Guelph, Canada
107. Michele LeRoux, Postdoctoral associate, Massachusetts Institute of Technology
108. Elisabeth Armstrong, Smith College, United States
109. Ephraim Chimwaza, Executive Director, Centre for Social Concern and Development, Malawi
110. Shailja Patel, Research Associate, Five Colleges Women's Studies Research Center, Mt Holyoke College, USA
111. Sybil Nmezi, Generation Initiative for Women and Youth Network (GIWYN), Lagos, Nigeria
112. Deepa V, Health activist, Jan Swasthya Abhiyan, India
113. Carrie Shelver, interim manager of the Sexual Rights Initiative (Geneva) and member of Sexual and Reproductive Justice Coalition and One in Nine Campaign (South Africa)
114. Prof. Dr. Ingrid Schneider, Hamburg Center for Bio-Governance, Universität Hamburg, Germany
115. Marisa Pizii, Deputy Director of Programs, Civil Liberties and Public Policy, Amherst, MA
116. Susan Raffo, Minneapolis, MN, USA. writer
117. Lisa Ikemoto, Professor, University of California, Davis School of Law
118. Shahina Parvin, Ph.D. Student, University of Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada
119. Tiziana Leone, Associate Professor Health and International Development LSE UK
120. Parvathy Binoy, Florida State University, Department of Geography, Tallahassee, Florida, USA
121. Laura Rodriguez Castro, PhD, Griffith Centre for Social and Cultural Research, Griffith University, Gold Coast, Australia
122. Muhammad Aslam Panhwar, Peace Foundation Pakistan
123. Bharat Agarwal, Activist , Rajasthan, India
124. Asha Nadkarni, Associate Professor of English, University of Massachusetts Amherst
125. Georgia Paula Martins Faust, Feminist activist and Researcher, Universidade Regional de Blumenau, Brazil
126. Reed Kurtz, PhD. Visiting Assistant Professor, Department of History and Political Science, Otterbein University (Westerville, OH USA)
127. Sulakshana Nandi, Public Health Researcher, Chhattisgarh, India
128. Carissa Brands, Task Force on the Americas, San Rafael, California, USA
129. Dr Tlaleng Mofokeng, SRHR expert, Nalane for Reproductive Justice, South Africa
130. Joséphine Malimukono, League for Congolese Solidarity LSC, DR Congo
131. Susanne Heim, Free University Berlin, Department of Political Science, Germany
132. Dumiso Gatsha, Success Capital Organisation, Botswana
133. Mei-ling Wiedmeyer, MC, CCFP, Clinician Scientist, Centre for Gender and Sexual Health Equity, University of British Columbia, Canada
134. Raphael Godlove Ahenu, Ghana
135. Cory Morningstar, Wrong Kind of Green, Canada
136. Kiran Asher, Ph.D Professor, Department of Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, University of Massachusetts, US
137. Nanna Rask, Ph.D. Candidate, Environmental Social Sciences, School of Global Studies, University of Gothenburg, Sweden
138. Laura Mamo, Professor, San Francisco State University, USA

139. Shaun Sellers, McGill University, Department of Natural Resource Sciences, Canada
140. Casey Blake, What Now Counselling, South Africa
141. Dr Catriona A Towriss, Senior Lecturer in Population Studies, University of Cape Town
142. Dr Indira Govender, Public health medicine specialist, KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa
143. Chibueze Ezebuio, Project Officer, Centre for Rights Advancement and Sustainable Development (CREST), Nigeria
144. Juana Camacho, ICANH, Bogotá, Colombia
145. Karen Thurston, 2+ Abortions Worldwide, United States
146. Rishita Nandagiri, LSE Fellow in Health and International Development; London School of Economics and Political Science
147. Marina Morrow, PhD, Chair, School of Health Policy & Management, Professor, York University, Toronto, Canada
148. Dr. Jessica Rucell, University of Cape Town, South Africa
149. Charlotte Landeryou, student activist/peer-counselor, Mount Holyoke College, Amherst, MA
150. Mel Bleil Gallo, feminist activist, journalist and researcher at Universidade Federal do ABC (UFABC), Brazil
151. Madelynn Paige Bovasso, American University, United States
152. Kerry Rowley, Santa Cruz, California
153. Róisín Davis, Haymarket Books, NY, USA
154. Christian Noah-Wadada Center-Tanzania
155. Ornael Mikhael Djembo, Association Congolaise pour les Droits et la Santé, Republic of Congo
156. Claudia Malacrida, University of Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada
157. Dr. Jessica Rucell, University of Cape Town, South Africa
158. April Merleaux, Northampton, MA, United States
159. Michael Gasser, Science for the People, Santa Cruz, California, USA
160. Ted Duffy, University of Massachusetts Amherst, Foxboro MA, United States
161. Radhika Menon, University of Delhi, Delhi, India
162. Yifat Susskind, Executive Director, MADRE, New York, US
163. Omar Dahi, Hampshire College, United States
164. Dr. Luiza Prado de Oliveira Martins, artist, Germany
165. Laurel Smith-Doerr, Research Associate, Five College Women's Research Center; Professor, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, USA
166. Svati Shah, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, US
167. Alejandro Camargo, Universidad del Norte, Barranquilla, Colombia
168. Oriana López Uribe, CDMX, México
169. Cynthia Ryan, Trustee, The Schooner Foundation, Nairobi, Kenya
170. Susanne M. Klausen, Professor, Department of History, Carleton University, Ottawa
171. James K Boyce, Political Economy Research Institute, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, US
172. Dr MWABI White, Struggle for health improvement, Democratic Republic of the Congo
173. Dr. Sabah Mofidi, Research Fellow, NIAS Amsterdam
174. Dr. Lucía Berro Pizarossa, Post-Doctoral Researcher, Global Health Law Groningen Research, The Netherlands
175. Vineet Thakur, Leiden University, The Netherlands
176. Lamia Karim, University of Oregon-Eugene, USA
177. Stacey Vanderhurst, University of Kansas, United States
178. Mary Beth Mills, Professor, Department of Anthropology, Colby College, Maine, USA
179. Dr Lynette Dumble, Medical Scientist, Melbourne, Australia
180. Dr. Laura Meek, Assistant Professor, Centre for the Humanities and Medicine, University of Hong Kong

181. Morganne Blais-McPherson, PhD Student, Department of Anthropology, University of California, Davis, USA
182. Benjamin Bean, PhD Candidate, Department of Anthropology, University of California, Davis, USA
183. Dharashree Das, PhD Candidate, Department of Anthropology, Simon Fraser University, Canada
184. Mauricio Najarro, PhD, PhD Student, Joint UC Berkeley-UCSF Medical Anthropology Program, USA
185. Omer Aijazi, University of Toronto, Canada
186. Jan Brunson, Associate Professor, Department of Anthropology, University of Hawai'i
187. Julieta Chaparro, PhD Candidate, Department of Anthropology, University of Massachusetts Amherst
188. Lucía Stavig, PhD Candidate, Department of Anthropology, UNC at Chapel Hill
189. Indulata Prasad, Women and Gender Studies, School of Social Transformation, Tempe, Arizona
190. Katie Klein, MA Student & Teaching Assistant, Women's & Gender Studies, University of Milwaukee, WI
191. Vijay Rukmini Rao, feminist activist, Executive Director, Gramya Resource Centre for Women, India
192. Aaron Vansintjan, PhD Candidate, University of Birkbeck, Editor, Uneven Earth
193. Cynthia Enloe, Clark University, United States
194. Elizabeth Gilarowski, writer and researcher, Toronto, Canada
195. Logina Mostafa, Masters Candidate, NYU College of Global Public Health
196. Heidi J. Nast, Professor of International Studies, DePaul University, Chicago, USA
197. Ann Russo, Professor, Women's and Gender Studies, DePaul University, Chicago USA
198. Patti Duncan, Women, Gender, and Sexuality Studies, Oregon State University, USA
199. Winifred Curran, Professor of Geography, DePaul University, Chicago, USA
200. Dr Claire Lagier, Independent researcher, Editor at Uneven Earth
201. Laila Farah, Associate Professor, Depaul University, Chicago, Illinois, USA
202. Kathie Sarachild, Redstockings
203. Adsa Fatima, Sama Resource Group for Women and Health
204. Claudio Schuftan, PHM, Ho Chi Minh City
205. Miliann Kang, Associate Professor, Women, Gender, Sexuality Studies, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA, USA
206. Rohit Shah ,Doctoral Candidate, IITB-Monash Research Academy, India
207. Ravi M. Ram, Health Researcher and Evaluator, People's Health Movement, Nairobi, Kenya
208. Sara Lafuente-Funes, Institut für Soziologie, Goethe Universität, Frankfurt am Main, Germany
209. Carmen Romero-Bachiller, Department of Sociology: Methodology and Theory, Complutense University of Madrid, Spain
210. Thomas Schwarz, Executive Secretary, Medicus Mundi International Network, Basel, Switzerland
211. Laura Perler, Sozial- und Kulturgeographie Bern, Universität Bern
212. Katharine Dow, Senior Research Associate, University of Cambridge
213. Dr Mira Shiva (Public Health Physician), Initiative for Health & Equity in Society, Diverse Women for Diversity, India
214. Dr. Carole McCann, Chair, Gender, Women's, & Sexuality Studies, University of Maryland, Baltimore
215. Farida Akhter, Executive Director, UBINIG (Policy Research for Development Alternative), Dhaka, Bangladesh
216. Umme Maria, Assistant Professor, Symbiosis International University, Pune, India
217. David Salkoff, PhD. Democratic Socialists of America, Davis, California

- 218. Kim Windvogel, Co-director of Femmeprojects
- 219. Faith Kasina, Kayole Community Justice Center
- 220. Ian Parker, Emeritus Professor of Management, University of Leicester, UK
- 221. Navtej Purewal, Professor, SOAS University of London, UK
- 222. Theresa A. Foster, activist & student of Marxism
- 223. Daniel Tanuro, Ecosocialist activist and author, Belgium
- 224. Lisa A. Martor, Her Smile International, Liberia
- 225. Moira Tan, National Women's Law Center, Washington, DC
- 226. Sarah Ngoma, People's Health Movement, Zambia
- 227. Stephen Viederman, retired president, Jessie Smith Noyes Foundation, NY
- 228. Fouzieyha Towghi, Lecturer in Medical Anthropology, Australian National University,
- 229. Ariane Plumley, Women's group facilitator, Praxis Community Projects, Masters student in Psychosocial studies, Birkbeck College, UK

ORGANIZATIONS

- 230. Espacialidades Feministas, Bogota, Colombia
- 231. Judy Norsigian, Co-Founder and Board Chair, signing for Our Bodies, Ourselves, United States
- 232. National Women's Health Network, United States
- 233. Women's Global Network for Reproductive Rights, Philippines
- 234. PROMSEX, Centro de Promoción y Defensa por los Derechos Sexuales y Reproductivos, Peru
- 235. Peace Foundation, Pakistan
- 236. East Africa Climate Change Network-Kenya
- 237. Instituto Feminista Nísia Floresta, Brazil
- 238. Emma Campbell. Co Chair, Alliance for Choice Northern Ireland
- 239. Femmes Rurales Amies de la Paix et du Développement, DR Congo
- 240. Global Media Foundation, Ghana
- 241. Centre for Rights Advancement and Sustainable Development (CREST), Nigeria
- 242. Action Canada for Sexual Health and Rights, Canada
- 243. Community Active in Development Association (CADA) - United Republic of Tanzania
- 244. Masakhe Community Development Programme, from Nyanga East Cape Town South Africa
- 245. Mujer y Salud en Uruguay - MYSU, Uruguay
- 246. WACENA-Uganda
- 247. PERIPHERIE, Germany
- 248. MADRE, United States
- 249. glokal e.V., Germany
- 250. Gen-ethisches Netzwerk, Germany
- 251. Balance Promocion para el Desarrollo y Juventud AC, México
- 252. Grassroots Global Justice, United States
- 253. Centro and Research Group AFIN, Autonomous University of Barcelona, Spain
- 254. Global Sisterhood Network
- 255. respect Berlin. Initiative for the rights of undocumented migrant domestic workers
- 256. Civil Liberties and Public Policy (CLPP) Program
- 257. Young Democratic Socialists of America, National Coordinating Committee, United States
- 258. Netzwerk Reproduktive Gerechtigkeit, Germany
- 259. Uneven Earth, Online political ecology and environmental justice magazine
- 260. Sexual Rights Initiative, Global/Switzerland
- 261. People's Health Movement West & Central Africa
- 262. POPDEV Bénin

263. Abortion Rights Coalition of Canada / Coalition pour le droit à l'avortement au Canada
264. Climate and Capitalism
265. Young Womxn of Color 4 Reproductive Justice Collective Leadership Council, Advocates for Youth
266. FairBindung e.V., Berlin, Germany